PINTSCH GAS PLANT

Inspected by Eastern Representative And Will be Enlarged.

Ogden, Dec. 1 .- The Pintsch Gas com-Ogden, Dec. 1.—The Pintsch Gas company's plant in this city was inspected yesterday by W. A. Rivulette, a representative of the company from New York. In company with local Super-intendent George Lochhand, Jr., he thoroughly examined the plant with the view of determining the enlargement of the same reason. the same so as to be able to supply the great demand made on his company for gas at this point. He was much pleased with the condition of the local plant, though recognizing the inability of the plant to supply the demand for gas. He will return to New York and recomment entensive improvements among them being the enlargement of the plant to about five times its present capacity, which would give it a daily output of 240,000 cubic feet. The contemplated enlargement will cost about $50,000, and will be made under the direction of local Supt. Lochhead who is one of the most capable men in the west in the construction and connecting of such a plant. Just as soon as the management has passed on the proposed improvements, work preparatory to making the same will be com-menced, so that by spring the new plant can be built.

The Pintach Gas company furnishes all the gas for lighting purposes on all the railroads running in and out of Ogden. The great increase of traffic on all the lines has made it impossible for the company with its present plant to supply the quantity required. At the present time there are 14 men employed at the gas plant which number will be greatly increased when the new plant is built.

On his arrival here he was met by the ambu-lance and taken to the hospital where physicians examined his feet and will use every effort to save them, but it is feared they may have to be amputated to save his life.

The unfortunate man had been working near Reno, Nevada, but had start-ed out in a terrific storm and before he could get to his destination his feet were frozen stiff so he could not stand

A CHRISTMAS DINNER.

How a Dyspeptic School Ma'am Prepared and Ate One.

A Christmas dinner means "good cheer" to all but the person who can't get it or can't eat it after it's got. A young lady school teacher had dyspepsia so bad that her stomach was of little more use to her than a worn out shoe! Her Christmas dinner story

"Teaching in the Rural Districts for 10 years compelled me to board in homes where I was served with poorly cooked food and cold lunches. As a result it seemed my stomach was completely worn out. I could only retain the most delicate food and that had to be eaten slowly and in a reclining po-sition. Vomiting in the night was a frequent occurrance, and medicine had no effect as it would always be ejected. Severe heart-spells and female trouble

Robert Baxter, who discovered the absence of the ballots at the polls on election day when he appeared in order to vote, testified to receiving one ballot from Parkinson in this city and con-veying it back to Mt. Sterling.

The defendants' attorney demanded the dismissal of the defendants on the ground that no criminal intent was shown, but the prosecutor insisted that the intent need not be proven affirma-tively, but might be established by the circumstances of the case, and he maintained that the circumstances in this case fully demonstrated that the intent existed fully in the defendants' minds, for they knew that they were doing wrong. Justice Pedersen accepted the defendants' views and dismissed the case. In disposing of the case the court said: "I have listened with great insaid: "I have listened with great interest to all the evidence, and the arguments made by counsel on both sides. I appreciate that the same responsibility rests upon me in this action as that under which a jury acts. STILL THE SAME BOY.

A little of every age of civilization is in its toys. The future historian will have no difficulty in reconstructing our age if he finds merely a few toys in dusty garrets or museums. Do you know what the little children in the early days of the persecuted Christians played with? I have always thought it at once pathetic and horrible; they played with little toy instruments of martyrdom. So today childhood plays with the things of science. What went oversea this year from Parls and Nuoversea this year from Paris and Nuremberg were toys of wireless telegraphy, electrostatis machines, electric tramways, automobiles driven by alcohol or electricity, electric torpedoboats that plunge and come to the surface again, chemicagnable. again, cinematographs, for the magic lantern is declassed, and chromatropes, lantern is declassed, and chromatropes, that present colored moving pictures; these scientific fancies of the moment and a dozen others. I looked at them one and all, and amazement grew upon, me. What kind of a little boy is he who will play with these somber and intricate toys? And I pictured him as a dreary and learned little man, buttoned up in a black blouse, one finger lifted to his enormous forehead and his eyes wrinkled with uncanny thought. And then I remembered that even the little twentieth-century boy is one of the Wise People; in his untiring wisdom he knows that toys—even Ruhmkorff coils and Geissler luminous tubes korff coils and Geissler luminous tubes and voltameters—are bad when broken,
